

RCGP Certificate in the Detection, Diagnosis and Management of Hepatitis B and C in Primary Care

25th January 2012 – London

29th February 2012 – Bristol

23rd March 2012 - Liverpool

Hepatitis B and C are important causes of morbidity and mortality, but although there are NICE approved treatments, still only about 50% of people are being diagnosed and there is much we can do in primary care to change this.

- Are you confident in the detection and diagnosis of Hepatitis B and C?
- Are you confident with managing patients with Hepatitis B and C?
- Are you aware of the treatments and referral pathways?

If the answer to any of these is “no” or “not sure” – then this is the Certificate for you!

This RCGP Certificate Part 1 consists of an e-module plus a one day training component and is targeted at GPs, practice nurses and other healthcare professionals.

Before you attend you must complete the e-learning module of the Certificate in the Detection, Diagnosis and Management of Hepatitis B and C in Primary Care which is available on the RCGP website at <http://www.elearning.rcgp.org.uk>. You can reserve a place on the training day before taking the e-module.

Each training day is led by two clinicians experienced in these areas and is designed to be interactive with presentations, group work and discussion.

To book on a training day visit the RCGP Substance Misuse & Associated Health at http://www.rcgp.org.uk/substance\_misuse.aspx
or email hepbandc@rcgp.org.uk

The cost of the certificate including the Training Event is £200 per person